MISS ALICE ROOSEVELT.

The Eldest Daughter of President Roosevelt, a Welcome Guest.

WORLD'S FAIR JOTTINGS.

The latest World's fair novelty in St. Louis is a mounted burglar.

The National Congress of Mothers is holding its first sessions in the hall of congresses at the World's fair.

Carrie Nation stopped off at St. Louis long enough Monday to denounce the World's Fair as a "carnival of the devil."

Persons of almost every city and town in Texas were present to witness the dedication of the Lone Star pavilion Thursday.

Secretary Flory of the World's fair national commission is receiving many requests for orders for half-fare tickets to the World's fair.

The Woman's Humane Society of Missouri will attempt to prevent the proposed cock fights in the Moro village at the World's fair.

The Mississippi World's fair commission will send Gov. Vandevier to St. Louis to bring peace to the unsettled state building.

The military hold sway at the World's fair this week, and thousands of soldiers and militiamen are to be seen on the Exposition grounds.

A battalion of 220 cadets and 14 officers from the Culver military academy, May 1, R. Gignilliat, commandant, has arrived at the World's fair.

After a conference the World's fair officials and the national commission agreed to extend the sale of half-price tickets to the public in general until June 15.

A statement of the attendance at the World's fair, last week, shows that there were 257,611 admissions, nearly 2,000 more than at Chicago for corresponding period.

The Indiana building at the World's fair, which has been open for several days, will be formally dedicated on June 2, when Gov. Durlin and his staff will be present.

The pond in Missouri's outside exhibit of forestry, fish and game has been stocked with about 150 catfish, crabs and a few large-mouthed bass. More will be added later.

The Southern Methodists of the St. Louis district are going to investigate the morals of the Pike at the World's fair, and have appointed a committee of four ministers for the purpose.

More than 1,000 visitors and delegates attended the first session of the nineteenth annual convention of the Missouri Bankers' association in the Missouri building at the World's fair.

Tuesday, June 7, has been designated the time for dedicating the Alabama exhibit in the Mines building, at the World's fair, including the colossal statue of Vulcan in Alabama cast iron.

An edition of 5,000 "Handbuechlein" has just been issued by the German Methodist churches of St. Louis and vicinity, for the purpose of acquainting German Methodists generally with the World's fair and with the points of interest there and in St. Louis.

A WIDOW WILL MARRY AGAIN.

A widow of 20 will be married soon. The daughter will be free-footed then. Oh then happy times will come: They live on Lawton avenue.

OUT IN FULL STRENGTH.

Last Sunday the Order of U. B. F. and S. M. T. had their annual sermon, at Metropolitan church, for the first time in seven years. Not less than five hundred members turned out. Wm. Rice, district deputy grand master, introduced P. G. M. C. H. Tandy, who acted as master of ceremonies, which he did with credit. Several members spoke. Brother Fields gave an account of the rise and progress of the order. "Hon." W. M. Farmer spoke at some length, going over the same ground that Brother Field had already covered. The climax was the address of Mrs. Rosie Cummings. She spoke in a clear and distinct manner, as follows:

"Say one, 'I have read of a beautiful City, far away in the Kingdom of God; I have read how its walls are of Jasper, how its streets are of golden and broad; and in the midst of the streets is Life's river, as clear as a crystal and pure to behold, but not half of that city's bright glory to mortal has ever been told.'"

"Man instinctively asks the question, 'Does this life end all?' In response the thundering corridors of his soul seem to reverberate a mocking meaning 'no' to the oft-cherished queries, causing the agnostic and skeptic alike to say, 'There is a life beyond the range of human existence, a life of eternal joy, or eternal woe.' To feel that, after a life of usefulness and honor, falling asleep as Bryant says, 'Like the one who wraps the drapery of his couch upon him, and awakes to find himself in a dream.'"

"The rapid growth and extensive territory embraced necessitated the introduction of secrecy, for the protection of the order against intrusion and imposition. Secrecy only exists with us to know those who are worthy and will protect the order against those who would likely be hostile to its purposes. The growth of the United Brothers of Friendship, from the handful of 1881, to the strong body that it now is, has caused everyone to seem more determined to go forward in the good work. Grand lodges have adopted insurance systems. They embrace more good than I have time to mention, and will say it is another mode of assistance to the widows and orphans. On the death of a brother his wife and children are not left penniless or without the generous hand of friendship to their rescuer."

At this point Mrs. Cummings explained and impressed upon the minds of those present the teaching of our order, so much so that many have entertained a better opinion of it.

She held that vast concourse of people spellbound.

Rev. Wakefield was then introduced and preached an able discourse.

We noticed several noted persons present. We also were informed that Rice lodge wants to rule, and when it can not the members will not act. We wish to inform that lodge now, that they are not the only pebble on the beach.

Capt. Tandy took The Palladium man off his feet, but after a few minutes he seemed to get up again.

At the hall Monday night the order turned out in full, and a general good time was indulged in. Mrs. Mary Wilson and Maria Ubald were the persons that collected from the supper table. Of course, they were conspicuous and relieved many persons of their 25 cents for what they ate.

Mrs. Lula Brunner, Octavo Mahony and little Celia Brunner were attractive.

Mrs. Foggs and daughter enjoyed themselves.

Oh, yes, we saw Miss Elmore Board, of 4023 Easton. She looked well, but the young men don't know how to approach her. You only have to get right.

Mrs. Bevins, of 1416 Poplar street, and Mrs. Georgia Freeman, 2103 Franklin avenue, were acting as girls of 16.

Mr. James Branch, the man who made all happy, suggested to us to take a smile with him, as did Prof. Holladay, of 2645 Market street. We did not object.

Mrs. Hattie Williams looked pleased; also Mrs. Odell and Hyatt, of Electa Temple.

Mrs. J. E. Brown, of 905 Kansas street, seemed to enjoy herself.

William Rice and Capt. C. H. Tandy seemed to have things their own way, till The Palladium man appeared, then they all flocked to him. We were indeed sorry for them. But you know why they left them and came to us.

NEWPORT AND MADISON, ILL.

There is no use for a saloon keeper or his consort to think the Booker Washington Improvement league is dead, for it is not—nor need he fall out with his friends because they say Fairchild would never have assaulted a strong man as he did Wilhite, the Colored teacher. Was Fairchild practicing with his revolver last week up the railroad in order to meet The Palladium man or his ex-Newport correspondent?

We have the utmost confidence in the good people of Madison, Ill., both whites and blacks, and we know that they will uphold the law. But there is one thing that we do not understand, and that is to allow that man Fairchild to conduct a saloon in Newport, where young men and young girls are allowed to congregate. No city government should allow such a saloon as Fairchild's, and the one in Brooklyn, owned by the once medicine man, now postmaster and saloon keeper. We wonder if the government knows that one of its postmasters is a saloon keeper?

ANTIOCH CHURCH NOTES.

The young ministers' rally, Sunday, the 22d, was quite a success, and was very well attended. We hope this will encourage the young men to go forward and do more for the Lord.

Rev. F. McKinney, pastor of Antioch Baptist church, attended service last Sunday morning at St. Paul A. M. E., but at 8 p. m. was at his own church and after listening to a grand sermon by Rev. H. E. Turner, he announced that the church would have a grand rally the first Sunday in July. The members to be deviled in clubs. He appointed captains of the clubs.

To the Members and Friends—You are invited to attend the B. Y. P. U. every Sunday, at 6:30 p. m. Allen Tillman, president; Miss Ella Williams, secretary.

Stopped With Mrs. W. A. Hawkins.

Two of the bishops of the C. M. E. church, and one of the college presidents, Bishop L. H. Halsey, D. D., of Atlanta, Ga., and Bishop E. Cottrell, D. D., of Holly Springs, Miss., also Rev. J. A. Bray, A. M., president Lane college, Jackson, Tenn., are the distinguished representatives of the Bishops' council and the general board of the C. M. E. church, who stopped with Mrs. W. A. Hawkins, 2940 Fairfax avenue.

Dr. D. P. Roberts, pastor of St. Paul's chapel, has returned, and is looking well. We know the congregation and citizens are glad to welcome him back.

SCHOOL TEACHER FIGHTS.

A teacher in the public school engaged in a most disgraceful fight May 15. She came out of her house in her night clothes. We again call the attention of the board to this constant disorder of one of the public school teachers. The reflection on the others engaged in the same profession is too scathing. For the benefit of those who do conduct themselves properly, this one should be dismissed.

Were Entertained.

Bishop G. W. Clinton, wife and son, Reverends Selectman, Alford Nichols, Adam Walfield, James Ervine, and Stone, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, at 3625 Finney avenue. They were well pleased, and they left a lasting impression upon the minds of others.

Personal.

Miss Georgia Ellen Sydnor and Mr. William J. Buckner are on the outs, but Mr. Perkins is close on her track, also Mr. Morise Grant.

Died.

Mrs. Fannie Davis, of 19 South Leonard, died Tuesday at the ripe old age of 103 years. She formerly lived in Danville, Montgomery county, Missouri. She leaves two daughters and several great-grand children to mourn her loss. She was a member of the M. E. church, but on account of age was unable to attend services. May she rest in peace.

Arrivals at Newport Hotel.

D. S. Graham, D. D., and wife, New Orleans; M. B. Johnson, Detroit; N. Richardson, New York; Rev. J. H. Goudy, Conway, N. C.; J. W. Williamson, Palestine, Tex.; C. H. Yancey, Montreal, Canada.

Base Ball.

The 400 vs. the Jackson, of Jackson, Tenn., at Handlan's park, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, May 28, 29 and 30. Admission, 25 cents. Game called at 3:30. Ladies free.

MISS LETTIE RICHARDSON.

Highly Pleased.

Some of our subscribers, leaving the city, do not inform us of their going away. When they come back they tell us that we pay no attention to them. We will now inform them that we are not their private secretary, and if you can not inform us of your absence from the city we will not attempt to find out. We treat all of our subscribers right, and more we can not do.

THE MEXICAN NATIONAL PAVILION.

The Mexican reservation, on which stands the Mexican national pavilion, is located at the intersection of Skinker road and Forsythe boulevard. It measures 160 by 125 feet. A space 50x72 feet of this tract is occupied by the building itself. On the surrounding territory an exhibit of the flora of Mexico, including banana trees, agaves, cacti and palms, will be maintained. A large force of men scoured the mountains of Mexico to obtain hardy and symmetrical plants for planting in this garden.

The Mexican building fronts the French national pavilion, which stands immediately across Forsythe avenue. Its side is turned toward Skinker road. It is square in plan, and in its center is a court—an exact reproduction, architecturally, of the patios or open courts which form a feature of Mexican dwelling houses.
